

NOTED LAWYER IS SHOT DOWN IN GANG FIGHT

W. W. O'Brien, Who Defended Shepherd, Is Victim of Gunmen's Warfare in Chicago.

TWO GANGSTERS SLAIN IN FIGHT

Bullets Were Fired From Window of Flat and Also From Automobile of Rival Gunmen.

Chicago, October 11.—(AP)—W. W. O'Brien, former assistant state's attorney and famous criminal lawyer, was shot and probably fatally wounded, today, in a gun battle between two notorious gangsters who were killed and two other men were wounded late today when Chicago's gangland feud, which has flared intermittently for two years past, blazed afresh.

The victims were ambushed on the near north side almost in front of Holy Nam cathedral, where the eucharistic congress was opened last night and only a short distance from the flower shop of Dion O'Banion, where this notorious gunman and gangster was ambushed and slain three years ago.

Gangsters Killed.

The dead are Earl ("Hymie") Weiss, notorious gangster and gunman, who was associated with O'Banion before O'Banion's assassination, and Paddy Murray, gangster and brother of William Murray, who, with Big Tim Murphy, was sentenced to Leavenworth penitentiary for participation in a big mail robbery here a few years ago.

O'Brien was shot five times in the abdomen. He was a former assistant state's attorney and one of Chicago's best known criminal lawyers. A year ago with William Scott Stewart, who had defended William Harding Shepherd, who was acquitted of the slaying of his foster son, William Nelson McIntosh, "millionaire orphan." Later he was associated with Stewart in the defense of Russell Scott, who is still attempting to escape a noose for killing a drug clerk.

Was Defending Gunman.

After dissolving his partnership with Stewart, O'Brien set up a firm of his own and at present was engaged in the defense of Joe Salis and Frank Koneil, well-known gang leader now on trial for the murder of John "Mittie" Foley, rival gangster.

Besides O'Brien, the others wounded were Same Pine, alias Peller, and Benny Jacobs. Jacobs was said to be an investigator for O'Brien and Pine was reported to have been associated with one of the various gang factions.

O'Brien had left the criminal courts building only four blocks from where the shooting occurred, just a short time previously. Witnesses said an automobile believed to have contained O'Brien and the others killed or wounded was proceeding north on State street when it was overhauled and forced to the curb by a second car bristling with rifles and sawed-off shotguns.

As soon as the gangsters' car drew abreast, guns began to blaze, while from an upstairs window of a flat building directly opposite the "Rat-a-Tat-Tat" the spitting of a machine gun was heard. The gun fire of the gangsters was directed on their victims for fully half a minute, whereupon the gangster car sped away and those operating the machine gun fled from the apartment building.

O'Brien Collapses.

In the street Murray lay dead and Weiss dying, while O'Brien was able to crawl to the curb where he collapsed while Pine and Jacobs limped away to find a doctor.

At the hospital O'Brien, before lapsing into unconsciousness, declared that he had just alighted from a street car when he was shot by unknown persons.

Weiss for years was a lieutenant of O'Banion, and after the latter was assassinated he was associated with Vincent "Schemer" Drucci, and with Drucci, recently was reported to have

A Queen Coming to Atlanta

We have any number of queens in Atlanta, and many come and go during the year; but just now we are supposed to get a lot of thrills over the fact Queen Marie of Roumania is coming this way.

According to press cables from Paris she had "absolutely nothing to wear," with the result that Paris is being ransacked for suitable gowns. Well, we should worry and acquire wrinkles over her affairs.

But if there are any ladies in Atlanta who "haven't a thing to wear" it's their own fault. Atlanta's stores and shops never had such marvelous outfits for ladies as are on display today.

DAUGHERTY-MILLER JURY IS DISCHARGED WITHOUT AGREEMENT

INDIANA JURORS READY FOR PROBE OF GRAFT CHARGE

Judge Collins Sends Order to State Prison for Appearance of Stephenson at Hearing.

ADAMS EXPECTED TO BE SUMMONED

Editor, Who Started Investigation, Mails Complete Evidence in Case to Senator Borah.

Indianapolis, Ind., October 11.—(AP)—D. C. Stephenson, a spectacular character who was generally credited with wielding great power over the republican party in Indiana two years ago, will have an opportunity next Thursday to relate to a grand jury here any knowledge he may have of alleged corruption among high officials.

Corruption charges have been made freely for several days by Thomas H. Adams, publisher of The Vincennes, Ind., Commercial.

An inquiry into the charges was begun today by the grand jury at the direction of James A. Collins, criminal court judge. Judge Collins sent an order to the state prison at Michigan City, where Stephenson is now serving a life sentence on a murder charge, directing that the prisoner be returned here for an appearance at 9 A. M. Thursday before the grand jury.

Adams' Charges Cause Probe.

Adams' accusations, which he said were based on information developed with the assistance of several other publishers who are members of the Indiana Republican Editorial Association, and also with the aid of a group of Stephenson's former employees, have received wide publicity during the last week but until today had received no official attention.

Acting on a request of Arthur L. Gilliam, attorney general of Indiana, Judge Collins today instructed the grand jury to make a complete investigation of the Adams' charges. Will Remy, prosecuting attorney, will have charge of the investigation.

Adams insisted that Stephenson has the evidence which will support the corruption charges. "The real information is under the direction of Stephenson," the publisher said in a statement today.

Calling of witnesses other than Stephenson was started by Remy. He should have those who were summoned, but it was expected that Adams would be asked to appear. Another likely to be called is Court Asher, who said those who were summoned, when the latter was grand dragon of the Ku Klux Klan in Indiana. Both Adams and Asher have asserted that Stephenson is ready to make revelations concerning Indiana politics.

Borah Asks Information.

Senator Borah, republican, of Idaho, in a message to Adams, requested information as to the operation of the Klan in Indiana. Adams said that he had mailed complete information to Senator Borah and had sent a message expressing the opinion that the United States senate should "probe into the workings of the super-government of the Invisible Empire."

Other developments of the day included a move by Adams' attorneys to obtain a deposition from Stephenson for use in combating the million dollar damage suit filed against Adams and several other publishers by John L. Duvall, mayor of Indianapolis. The mayor's suit was based on publication of photostatic copies of a letter purported to have been written by Duvall to Stephenson in which the mayor promised to submit certain appointments to the ex-klan leader for approval in return for political support.

McKie Tells of Killing Mate.

Augusta, Ga., October 12.—(AP)—Mrs. Lillian Lindley McKie, of Hutchinson, Kan., was found guilty of the murder of her husband, George A. McKie, at 2:15 o'clock, and sentenced to life imprisonment. The jury reached its verdict after 20 minutes deliberation.

Augusta, Ga., October 11.—(AP)—Claiming that she shot her husband, George A. McKie, because he made an apparent effort to draw a pistol from the automobile seat behind him, Mrs. Lillian McKie, of Hutchinson, Kan., on trial for her life in superior court here, today broke the silence she has maintained since her incarceration more than three months ago by entering a plea of self defense.

"I have told you before that if you bothered me again I would kill you," Mrs. McKie quoted her husband as threatening when she accosted him as he sat in his automobile on Greene street. She said that he then reached as if to get a gun from the seat behind him, "and I shot."

Dramatically relating the incidents that led up to the shooting, Mrs. McKie remained on the stand for about an hour.

McKie, member of a prominent South Carolina family, was shot to death here July 2 while seated in his automobile in front of the First Baptist church in an exclusive residential section. Authorities charged that Mrs. McKie waited in the shadow of the church for her husband to appear and shot him after he had entered the automobile. They had been estranged for some time.

Officers quoted her at the time of her arrest as saying that she "shot him because of family trouble," but since then she has refused to discuss the case. She has been held in the county jail here without bond.

The entire morning was consumed in the selection of a jury, a large number being excused because of their opposition to capital punishment.

The courtroom was jammed to the doors when the hearing began, women predominating. Judge Franklin severely reproved one outburst of applause from a group of women, threatening to eject them from the courtroom. It was necessary to close the doors of the courtroom shortly after the hearing began, and bailiffs were stationed at the doors to keep out late arrivals.

Mrs. McKie has been in jail without bond ever since the shooting. She appeared many pounds stouter when she entered the courtroom today, she

$800,000 Sent To Dublin Bank In Automobile

Bundles of Currency Rushed From Macon To Stop Run on Bank.

Macon, Ga., October 11.—(AP)—Delivery of approximately $800,000 in currency to the First National bank of Dublin, Ga., from three Macon banks, stopped a run on the Dublin institution which began Saturday and continued this morning.

The First National bank appealed to the Federal Reserve bank in Atlanta for immediate aid, which was granted, but the problem was to get the money to Dublin.

The Fourth National bank, Macon National bank and The Citizens and Southern bank, of this city, were authorized to supply the money and the Federal Reserve bank would ship an equal amount here.

Two Macon motorcycle officers accompanied the car in which the money was carried to Dublin.

ARRIVAL OF MONEY STOPS RUN.

Dublin, Ga., October 11.—(AP)—Members of the Dublin company, 121st Infantry, carried $800,000 through a lane of people at the First National bank here today, people who were lined up to withdraw their deposits.

Within 30 minutes after the huge pile of currency was piled up at the tellers' windows, the crowd melted away.

The run on the bank started on Saturday morning because of a malicious rumor. Officers of the Dublin bank have offered $500 reward for the arrest of the person who started the rumor.

All depositors were paid during Saturday as fast as the money could be counted out. On Sunday morning P. G. Coker, president, and A. W. Garrett, vice president, conferred with federal reserve officials in Atlanta.

The federal reserve bank placed $1,000,000 at the disposal of the Dublin bank and authorized the banks in Macon to deliver $800,000 on Monday morning, the federal reserve bank to replace the money at Macon.

JURYMEN UNABLE TO REACH VERDICT AFTER 65 HOURS

Members Stood Six to Six for Daugherty's Conviction and Ten to Two Against Miller.

BUCKNER TO DECIDE ON ANOTHER TRIAL

Government Prosecutor Will Take 30 Days Allowed for Decision on Second Move.

New York, October 11.—The strangest jury New York has seen, disagreed Monday on the guilt of Harry M. Daugherty and Colonel Thomas W. Miller, former high government officials, 65 hours and 40 minutes after it took the case to the jury room.

The previous record here for lengthy deliberation was made 20 years ago in the case against the American Sugar Refining company. The jury was deadlocked for 39 hours before reporting disagreement.

From two jurors, the United States learned that the final count stood six to six for Daugherty's conviction and ten to two against Miller. But after the jury was discharged, the court asked for another vote which resulted seven to five for Daugherty's conviction.

Conspiracy Charged.

Indicted by a federal grand jury for conspiracy to defraud in connection with the return of $7,000,000, the impounded assets of the American Metal company, to the Societe Suisse pour Valeurs des Metaux, a holding company, Daugherty and Miller had been on trial for 23 days when the case was given to the jury at 9:45 o'clock Friday night by Judge Julian W. Mack.

The trial established another precedent for it marked the first indictment and trial in American history of a one-time cabinet officer.

Daugherty was attorney general under the late President Harding, his friend whom he had steered to the presidency, and was ousted from office after senatorial pressure upon President Coolidge.

The court proceedings revolved around the disposition of $441,000, which Richard Merion, a German industrialist who represented the Swiss claimants, said he had paid to the late John T. King, republican national committeeman from Connecticut.

Wanted to Show "Split."

United States Attorney Emory R. Buckner, the prosecutor, tried to show that Daugherty and Miller, who was alien property custodian when the huge return was made, had enjoyed a "split" in the $441,000. He introduced no direct evidence to prove his contention, but he attempted to bring

ENGINEER RAPS PROPOSED CHARTER

Alleged Glaring Defects of New Plan Discussed at Meeting of Atlanta Body.

Under the city manager charter proposed for Atlanta, the city could dig up the sewer in front of a citizen's house, lay another sewer and bill the man for the work, William A. Hansell, chief of construction of Atlanta, Monday night declared at an open forum meeting of the Atlanta section of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers at the chamber of commerce building.

Proponents of the city manager charter claim that the new charter will leave the matter of sewer assessments "as was" under the present charter, Mr. Hansell said. "But they are wrong for, where the old charter provides that where a sewer is dug up and replaced, the city must pay the cost, the proposed new charter would lay the burden of paying for the work on the property owner," he said. "And this would be a considerable amount of money in the case of one of the big sewer mains of this city with the present cost of labor and material."

Mr. Hansell declared it was his

STATE WITNESS AGAINST AIMEE CALLED INSANE

Lawyers for Accused Evangelist Open Third Week of Preliminary Argument With Attack.

COURT DISMISSES DEFENSE OBJECTION

Mrs. Lorraine Wiseman-Sielaff Is Object of Offensive Initiated by Aimee's Defense Counsel.

United News Staff Correspondent. Los Angeles, October 11.—Mrs. Lorraine Wiseman, state witness for the state, took the witness stand in the Aimee Semple McPherson perjury hearing Monday, bringing the case to its most important stage.

Defense attorneys fought bitterly to prevent the admission of the "hoax woman's" testimony, but Judge Blake ruled that inasmuch as Mrs. Wiseman was a co-defendant on the conspiracy charge her testimony could be heard. Later the defense obtained the admission that she once had been in an insane asylum.

Hired By Evangelist.

Mrs. Wiseman charged that she was hired by the evangelist to produce a fake "Miss X" named by Kenneth G. Ormiston, former Angelus Temple radio operator, as his companion at the Carmel "love cottage."

The state contends that it was the famous Bible teacher who occupied the cottage with Ormiston, and Mrs. Wiseman claims that she was promised $5,000 to stage the hoax in order to avert a public scandal and to clear Mrs. McPherson's name.

A "Mr. Martin of San Francisco," first approached her with the proposition that she pose or produce a "Miss X," according to the witness.

"I met Mr. Martin in the lobby of the Hotel Lankershim, in San Francisco, on July 7," Mrs. Wiseman said. "He asked me if I could do some work for him. He said he had been referred to me by friends."

Showed Clippings.

According to the witness, "Mr. Martin" produced clippings from newspapers on Mrs. McPherson's "drowning" and others dealing with the inference that Mrs. McPherson had been at Carmel.

"He said, 'Mrs. McPherson's name must be cleared of this thing,'" Mrs. Wiseman testified.

"I asked him if he meant that Mrs. McPherson wasn't kidnapped and if she was the woman at Carmel," Mrs. Wiseman testified that she replied:

"I wouldn't ask you to work for me if she wasn't at Carmel. I told him that Mrs. Martin told me to frame the story about how my sister was at Carmel and to come here and tell authorities about it. He told me it was more important to clear Mrs. McPherson's name of the Carmel incident than it was to prove that she was kidnapped or to find the shack," Mrs. Wiseman said.

Opposing Counsel Wrangled.

Opposing counsel wrangled for more than an hour over the admission of Mrs. Wiseman's testimony, upon which the state hopes to prove that the evangelist and her associates manufactured false evidence to substantiate the kidnapping story.

The defense charged that the witness was insane.

The witness admitted under cross examination that she had been confined in a Utah asylum.

"Yes, I was placed in the institution in the county of Weber, Utah state," she said. "But I was placed there for the crime of another and I remained there only two months."

GOVERNOR FUGUA DIES IN LOUISIANA

Death of Governor Is Surprise—Lieutenant Governor O. H. Simpson Automatically Succeeds.

Baton Rouge, La., October 11.—(AP)—Henry L. Fugua, governor of Louisiana since May, 1924, died in the executive mansion here tonight. His death was a shock to his friends as his illness of a few days' duration had not been regarded as serious.

Internal gastric hemorrhages caused the state's chief executive, intimately known by many as "Marse Henry," to seek medical attention. The governor made his last visit to the state house Friday and was able to conduct official business at his home Saturday. His illness became acute Sunday, however, and he suffered a slight hemorrhage at that time, his physicians revealed tonight.

Governor Fugua suffered a severe gastric hemorrhage at 5:30 o'clock tonight and after that time his condition became worse. Two hours later, Dr. J. Robert and Dr. L. G. Stirling, who had attended the political leader, announced that he had passed away.

Lieutenant Governor O. H. Simpson, of New Orleans, automatically will succeed Governor Fugua.

STATESBORO WOMAN ADMITS SHE KILLED HUSBAND'S BROTHER

Man's Last Stronghold Lost As Barbers Turn Chirotonsors

FAIR SEX EVEN BANS FAVORITE LITERATURE

BY BEN COOPER.

Had worthy old Rip Van Winkle gone to sleep on top of Stone Mountain ten years ago and come to life Monday to attend the first annual convention of the Georgia Master Barbers' association at the Henry Grady hotel, old Rip would have had sensation after sensation in store for him, if C. A. Morrison, president of the association, is any judge.

In the first place, men's last hold on his per hair, the barbershop, has been ruthlessly torn from his grasp by the invading fair sex—meaning the Police Gazette, favorite literature of the barber's male customer, has been banned by the association.

And in the second place, he would have to address his barber as a "Chiroton-sors," for that is the new name adopted by the master barbers for the profession.

Explaining the abolition of the Police Gazette in today's barbershop, Mr. Morrison declared that the tone of barbering, or rather, "Chiroton-sors," is toward refinement, and that the Police Gazette is anything but refined. "It's the day of the fashion magazine in the barbershop," Mr. Morrison said.

"The invasion of the barbershop by the fair sex is a trouble not only to man, but is a sore point with many barbers," Mr. Morrison said, waxing eloquent on the subject. "Of course, we barbers are here to serve the trade, but there is not as much money in a woman customer as there is in a man, and a hair bob is more trouble. Where a man would get a massage, a shampoo, a shave, a singe and other things in addition to a hair cut, a woman prances in and gets just a bob or a trim, and insists on looking into the mirror five minutes before she is satisfied."

Hair bobbing is here to stay, as the majority of women have their hair bobbed.

MAN'S BODY, DEAD SINCE SATURDAY, FOUND IN HOTEL

Suicide Suspected in Death of Morris Amplosk, of New Orleans, in Downtown Hotel.

Believed to have been the victim of suicide by poison last Saturday, the body of Morris Amplosk, 45, of New Orleans, Monday afternoon was found lying across the bed of a room in a downtown hotel.

While authorities were investigating this tragedy, a coroner's jury was returning a verdict of suicide in the case of R. H. Atkinson, 30, of 553 Capitol avenue, whose body was discovered with a gaping pistol wound in the temple.

A note to hotel authorities from Amplosk indicated that he had committed suicide, and he asked that Morris and P. Phillips, of Decatur street, and the Masonic order, be notified of his death. A note to his wife in New Orleans was not opened. The body was removed to the funeral chapel of H. M. Patterson & Son.

A bottle which had contained iodine was found on the roof of a building just outside the room and police believe that he took a quantity of iodine to kill himself. The body was not discovered at the hotel until Monday because Amplosk had left a note on the door asking that he not be disturbed, officials said. Maids did not attempt to enter the room Sunday because of the note, it was said at the hotel.

Amplosk was a traveling salesman and had registered at the hotel on previous occasions. He is believed to have killed himself Saturday night as hotel employees did not see him later than 9 o'clock Saturday night about the lobby, it was said. An inquest will be held today and funeral arrangements will be announced after the inquest.

Atkinson's body was found in his bedroom at the home Monday.

LABOR FEDERATION BARS RESOLUTION ENDORSING SMITH

Convention Reaffirms Its Policy of Non-Partisan Political Activity. Training Camps Favored

Detroit, Mich., October 11.—(AP)—Reaffirming its policy of non-partisan political activity, the American Federation of Labor convention voted unanimously today to avoid entanglements in the 1928 presidential campaign by withholding action on a resolution introduced by representatives of the New York State Federation of Labor proposing endorsement of Governor Alfred E. Smith of New York for the democratic presidential nomination.

The convention approved, without debate, the report of its committee on resolutions on the Smith proposal, which pointed out that the country is not now in a presidential campaign and that Governor Smith is not an avowed candidate for the presidency.

The report recalled that Governor Smith is a candidate for reelection as chief executive of the Empire state, and that he had the endorsement of the New York federation for that office.

Text of Report.

The text of the committee report on the resolution follows:

"The American people are not at present engaged in a presidential campaign. Governor Alfred Smith is at present a candidate for reelection as governor of the state of New York. As such he has the support of the New York State Federation of Labor and of an overwhelming number of unorganized wage earners and citizens. If we are to maintain strict adherence to our nonpartisan political campaign activities in presidential as well as other public official campaigns, we must of necessity withhold the formation and expression of judgments until the opportune and

AMERICANS GIVEN ADVICE ON ROYAL ETIQUETTE POINTS

NEVER TURN YOUR BACK ON QUEEN

Prince Nicholas should attend a stag party, dinner jackets will be taboo. At afternoon receptions women should wear their best afternoon dresses, as if they were going calling or to a bridge party at the country club, and should keep their hats on. MARIE AND CHILDREN PACK FIFTY TRUNKS

Paris, October 11.—Queen Marie of Roumania, who is characterized by the style masters of Paris as the best dressed woman in the world, pressed her royal children into service Monday night to complete the packing of 50 trunks which she will carry with her when she sails Tuesday for the United States.

As Prince Nicholas and Princess Heana worked until 2 o'clock Tuesday morning to rush completion of the packing, a procession of deliverymen from dressmakers filed through the queen's apartment.

An envoy of former Crown Prince Carol, arriving during the height of the packing and repeating Carol's request for an audience with his mother, was refused. Despite reports to the contrary the queen has not relented and is now expected to leave Paris for Cherbourg, where she sails on the Leviathan for New York, without seeing her eldest son.

PAIR IS PLACED IN COUNTY JAIL AS KINSMAN DIES

Mrs. Davis Tells Officers She Shot "To Scare Brothers Who Were in Drunken Brawl."

ACCIDENTAL SHOT SEEN AS DEFENSE

John Davis Dies in Savannah Hospital of Gunshot Wounds Inflicted at Statesboro.

Statesboro, Ga., October 11.—(AP)—Official said today that Mrs. Rozzie Mitchell Davis had confessed that she shot and fatally wounded her brother-in-law, John Davis, here Sunday morning, repudiating her previous statement that her husband, Allen Davis, fired the shot.

Mrs. Davis had stoutly maintained her husband, Allen, who is also held in jail here, fired the shot that killed his brother. When locked in her cell, after being arrested this morning, she called to one of the officers about to leave. She then admitted firing the shot.

"They were both drunk," she said. "I did it to frighten them and stop their drunken brawl."

Her admission is taken by state officers as an indication that a plea will be entered that the shooting was accidental.

Mrs. Davis was brought to jail along with several of her small children.

John Davis died in Savannah yesterday, where he was carried by his brother, Allen. He died of gunshot wounds.

According to a physician who was called to the home of Allen Davis Sunday morning, both men had been drinking. When caused the shooting has not been fully explained, but Mrs. Davis told the physician her husband had shot his brother, and in jail here today, Davis told newspapermen his wife did the shooting.

The physician stated he responded to the call and gave the injured man first aid treatment. He caused the shooting of the family refused to accept any responsibility for the caring for the wounded man. Later in the day, he was taken to Savannah and died during the night.

Mrs. Davis was formerly Mrs. W. H. Mitchell. After the death of her first husband, she married Davis. It was stated in Statesboro this morning that the body of John Davis would not be claimed. The two brothers have no relatives living in this county.

Marble Dealers Seek Means To Combat Overproduction

Faced with an overproduction situation, prices for marble today are much lower than at any time within recent years, said J. J. McClymont, of Milwaukee, Wis., president of the National Association of Marble Dealers. Monday, upon his arrival to attend the twenty-second annual convention, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday at the Biltmore hotel.

Mr. McClymont declared that no relief for the marble dealers is in sight at the present time, though they hope the situation will clear up within the near future. A visit to the quarries of the Georgia Marble company, at Tate, as guests of Colonel Sam Tate, owner, on Friday will be a feature of the convention. The quarries in Pickens county form one of the curiosities of the world from a geological standpoint, as this is one of the few places in the world where marble lies in the position in which it was originally deposited.

Meet Opens Wednesday

The convention will be called to order at 10 o'clock Wednesday morning, with an address of welcome by Governor Walker, and an invocation by the Rev. Samuel T. Senter. An address by W. D. Temple Residence Burns.

"CHICAGO SAVES 300,000 Babies Yearly By Pasteurization" Authority Estimates

Dr. John D. Robertson, former Health Officer of Chicago, once made the following statement: "Complete pasteurization of Chicago's Milk Supply has effected a saving of the lives of three hundred thousand babies each year."

Dr. Robertson's judgment must be respected. His ability is unquestioned. His opinion was given without self-interest. He was in the closest touch with the conditions he reported.

Think of the blessing of this scientific process which in Chicago alone in one year saved almost a thousand times as many lives as were lost in the Miami disaster that shocked the nation.

For your family's sake—for your baby's sake, investigate the pasteurization process and understand it thoroughly.

That baby of yours—so tiny—so helpless—so trustful, he looks to you to guide him to the good—to guard him from the harmful. No faith on earth is quite so absolute as the faith he has in you. Milk is his principal food and will be his first source of body-building elements for years to come.

What do you really KNOW about the milk he's drinking every day? In justice to him shouldn't you study the facts about milk and most carefully investigate the source of his supply?

Pedigree Milk is first of all good, clean, rich milk. We see to that by selecting herds that are of the highest and healthiest type. Further, we inspect every dairy from which we purchase milk. The dairy must be spotless or we will not pass the milk.

Next, we pasteurize this good milk to make it scientifically and unquestionably safe. We heat the milk to 142-145 degrees Fahrenheit (well below the boiling point). We hold the milk at this temperature for thirty minutes. (Long before this time all harmful disease germs are killed). The milk is then chilled and kept in a cold room that prevents the growth of any new germ life.

No human hands handle Pedigree Milk from start to finish. Pipes that are scrubbed and scoured twice daily carry it through this modern pasteurization plant.

When bottled this good, rich milk is safe. It is protected by that same scientific process that saves 300,000 babies' lives in Chicago yearly.

Why prosperity?

It is a fact of history that the famous nations of the past have made their greatest contributions to civilization only after the attainment of prosperity or economic health.

For what are the benefits of national prosperity but the betterment of public health, the improvement of all forms of education, and the growth of those cultural influences which make life richer for all?

(The prosperity of the South is today an accomplished fact, and, in the light of history, its promise for the future of the South is great.

The prosperity of southern communities is definitely bound up with the prosperity of the southern railroads. The Southern Railway System regards its present good credit and earning power as an opportunity to assist in the preservation of the general welfare of the South in the years that lie ahead.

TEACHERS TO WAIT ACTION ON PAY

While officials of the Atlanta board of education Monday continued to plan feverishly to devise a plan by which banks of the Atlanta Clearing House association would be able to discount certificates of salaries for 1,200 teachers of the system until January 1, 1927, the teachers themselves held a meeting Monday afternoon and decided to await developments. J. W. Scott, president of the Teachers' association, presided.

Marvin Underwood, prominent Atlanta attorney, has been retained by the Atlanta Public School Teachers' association to investigate the legality of the teachers' contract with the city, and report is slated to be received within a few days at a special called meeting of the association.

Mr. Underwood will hold conference with representatives of the clearing house in an effort to devise a salary certificate which would be acceptable to the banks. No announcement as to the time of these sessions was made.

To Issue Credits.

Plans for consideration of the certificate of credit proposed by the Clearing House association at a meeting slated Monday morning failed to materialize.

Regardless of whether the banks decide to accept the paper and discount it, the certificates of credit will be issued Wednesday or Thursday. It also was reported Monday night that a complete report of the financial situation may be made at the regular October meeting of the board of education this afternoon. Outside of this only routine matters will be considered. It was announced by Dr. R. M. Eubanks, president of the board.

Want Taxes Deferred.

Teachers at the meeting Monday also voted to ask council to defer issuance of tax against their property for non-payment of taxes until some solution of the financial problem is made. Friday is the last day for payment of 1926 taxes without paying five percent costs.

The teachers also referred to a special committee for investigation and report at a meeting two weeks hence a resolution introduced by the faculty of Boys' High school, relative to the year-round school program for Atlanta.

The resolution follows: "Whereas the teachers were reminded at their first meeting this semester that they were hired for 12 months and not nine; whereas the people of Atlanta have been advised, without the knowledge of the teachers, that schools will be operated throughout the year without any additional cost for teachers salaries; he it, therefore, resolved, that we put ourselves on record emphatically that neither of these statements is true for the following reasons:

"The teachers have not agreed and should not be forced to teach any part of the summer without pro rata pay; thus depriving themselves of whatever earnings the summers have been affording them.

"The teachers were hired and paid originally for nine months' service, and later their year's salary was merely divided by 12 instead of by nine, showing that they received no increase whatever, but really allowed the city to use a portion of their salary through the summer from which the city reaped interest in that amount and the teachers lost the same amount.

"The teachers have never been called upon for summer service without extra pay, except the two years the city ran summer schools and the teachers were paid $10 per week extra, about the pro rata salary of grammar school teachers at that time.

"As crowning proof that the teachers' salaries are for nine months' service, although paid in 12 installments, if a teacher resigns in June he receives full pay during the summer; whereas if he were hired for 12 months his salary would be paid in full at the time he resigned. Furthermore, if he resigns at any time after the beginning of the school year he receives his pro rata share of the summer salary."

HEBREW-CHRISTIAN CONFERENCE OPENED

Several hundred Atlantans representing various Protestant denominations attended the opening night session of the Hebrew-Christian conference Monday night at the Central Presbyterian church. Dr. Max L. Reich, of Philadelphia, editor of The Hebrew-Christian Quarterly and vice president of the International Hebrew-Christian alliance, was the principal speaker.

Louis D. Newton, editor of The Christian Index, presided. A number of Atlanta Jews attended on invitation of Protestant friends.

At 3 o'clock Tuesday afternoon the second of a series of afternoon classes will be conducted at the Central Presbyterian church. The Rev. Jacob Garntaus, in charge of Jewish evangelization for the Baptist home mission board, is presiding at the afternoon sessions, to which Christians are especially invited. They are being addressed by Dr. Reich, Dr. Aaron J. Kligerman, of Baltimore, and Dr. Max Wertheimer, of Ada, Ohio.

The speaker for Tuesday will be Dr. Kligerman, who is an ex-rabbi and now a nationally known Bible teacher. H. M. Willett will preside, the meeting to begin at 7:30 o'clock. Sessions will be held each afternoon and night through Friday. The conference will conclude with a mass meeting Sunday afternoon at the Rialto theater.

Concerns Prepare For Big Contracts Of Concrete Paving

Work of constructing 62 miles of concrete highway under contracts aggregating $1,618,000 will begin within the next ten days under a direction of the Davis Construction company of Atlanta. It was learned Monday at the state highway commission. Three of the projects to be constructed by this Atlanta company are located in Georgia and one in Tennessee.

The biggest contract to be undertaken by the company will be the building of 33 miles of the Coastal Plain highway between Savannah and Darien in Bryan, Liberty and McIntosh counties. This stretch will be of concrete construction and will be finished in 200 working days.

Another important Georgia road to be built by this company lies in Clayton county. It is a five-mile stretch of the Atlanta-Macon highway.

The Davis company also will build 7.2 miles of road in Jefferson county. The fourth project is 11.2 miles long in Roane county, Tennessee.

Hopkins Portrait To Be Presented To Tech Today

Presentation exercises of the portrait of Dr. I. S. Hopkins, first president of the Georgia School of Technology, will take place this morning in the Georgia Tech chapel. The presentation will be by Colonel I. S. Hopkins, of Atlanta, youngest son of the first president.

Dr. M. L. Brittain, president, will accept the portrait for the school. The portrait is the gift of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Hopkins, of Orlando, Fla. Mr. Hopkins is the eldest son of the first president of Georgia Tech. Miss Ruth Hopkins, principal of the Harwell Avenue school, of LaGrange, is a daughter of the distinguished educator and will be present at the exercises.

Miss Kate Edwards, well-known Atlanta painter, made the portrait. She has painted portraits of several well-known Georgians, Governor Slaton, Senator Steve Clay, Dean Emerson, formerly dean of the Georgia School of Technology, and others. The Hopkins portrait is from photographs.

Exercises will take place at 11 o'clock and the public will be admitted.

KNOX TO ADDRESS CREDIT ASSOCIATION

Professor Knox devoted much of his time during the tour of Europe to the study of financial and business conditions, and his talk is expected to be of much interest to the association.

Mrs. Bessie Anderson, secretary of the state democratic executive committee, announced Monday that she expects to complete today a compilation of the popular vote cast in the recent primary in the race for governor run by Dr. L. G. Hardman and John N. Holder. Five counties had not reported by the last mail Monday but Mrs. Anderson said she was almost certain she would receive these returns today as she had written the election officials asking them to send in the returns at once.

Counties which had not reported Monday were Baldwin, Coffee, Rockdale, Screven and Toombs. Paulding

TERRA COTTA SHOWS GAIN IN TONNAGE

Sustained activity in building is indicated in U. S. department of commerce figures just issued showing a gain of 3,364 net tons in bookings of architectural terra cotta for the first eight months of 1926, as compared with the same period of 1925.

The totals were 111,891 tons for 1925; 108,527 for 1925; and 102,000 for 1924. The increase over 1925 amounts to three per cent, and over the first eight months of 1926, it amounts to over nine and one-half per cent. Although the figure of 12,734 tons for the single month of August, 1926, was somewhat below the mark reached in the corresponding month in 1925, it still represented a gain of 41 per cent over August of 1924. In the matter of value, the first eight months of 1926, with a total of $14,057,082, exceeded the same period of the previous year by 8 per cent, and the first eight months of 1924 by 25 per cent.

so many Realtors prefer the Moncrief

It is only natural that Atlanta Realtors should prefer the guaranteed Moncrief to any other furnace. For practically every home they sell is Moncrief heated and a local factory is at the door to see that the Moncrief gives complete satisfaction.

They know that a written guarantee of 700 in the coldest weather goes with every Moncrief Furnace assuring the home owner of complete protection from the cold weather. Then too, the Moncrief Policy of installing an oversize furnace makes comfort doubly sure even during the severest winters.

UNITED STATES TIRES ARE GOOD TIRES

Winnboro Mills, Winnboro, S. C.

These cotton mills, controlled by the United States Rubber Company, specialize in cord for United States Tires.

Answering some Questions about the Cord in United States Tires

Q—How important is cord in a tire?

A—Cord provides the strength for the tire. It is the framework and the reinforcement which gives to the tire its form and structure. Rubber saturates, insulates and webs the cords together and supplies the tire with its wear resisting surface.

Q—Who makes the cord for United States Tires?

A—The superior cord used in United States Tires is made in the Winnboro Mills at Winnboro, South Carolina. These mills are controlled by the United States Rubber Company and have been, since 1917.

Q—Why does the United States Rubber Company consider it advantageous to operate its own cord mills?

A—This is in keeping with the Company's policy of ensuring absolute uniformity and high quality in all the materials which go into its tires. For the same reason, the Company grows its own rubber on its great plantations in the Far East.

Q—Then, this cord from the Winnboro Mills is uniform and of high quality?

A—Yes. These one-product mills use machinery especially adapted to making cord for United States Tires. The operators are specialists in their work and the entire energy of the mills is devoted to making the best tire cord that can be made.

Q—How is the quality of the cord assured?

A—Tests are made at each step in manufacture at the mills. Further tests are made of each carload received at the tire factories. A third series of control tests are made periodically at the Central Textile Development Department, the Company's technical organization specializing in the development of cotton goods for the United States Rubber Company.

For the ninth consecutive year Buick has won first choice of space at the National Automobile Shows.

This is Leadership! For this honor goes annually to the member of the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce with the year's largest volume of business.

Chance plays no part in this award. It is conferred upon the car which has found the most favor among the buyers of America--the car in which they have invested a plurality of their dollars.

It has gone to Buick every year since 1918 because Buick has built better motor cars, and continually put back the savings of increased volume and engineering development into still greater value.

Nine continuous years of leadership! For any other car to equal this would mean retaining continuous leadership until 1936--almost another decade.

The industrial history of America records no more brilliant achievement than these nine successive years of Buick dominance.

Wills Fights Sharkey in Crucial Battle Tonight

Smithies Begin Grind For Dayton Invaders; Three Players Hurt

Grammar Schools Will Turn Out Earlier For Atlanta's First Intersectional Grid Game Here Friday—Much Interest Shown.

BY BEN COTHMAN.

WHEN the cloud of battle had cleared away in Chattanooga last Saturday afternoon and Coach Tolbert had counted noses, he found that three of his best men would not be available for duty on Friday afternoon when Tech High meets Steele High, of Dayton, Ohio, at Spiller's field in the feature prep football game of the week.

However, men to replace those injured are being rapidly groomed to play Friday, and Coach Tolbert is confident that the Smithies will give the Steelers one of the toughest battles prep fans have seen here in some time.

Captain "Moto" Davis, one of the best linemen in the city, is suffering with a game leg, which he received in Saturday's game, and will be out for the rest of the season. Grubbs, big six-foot, 190-pound end, is being groomed by Tolbert to take Davis' place when the Smithies trot to the field Friday afternoon. Spier Mabry, playing his first year on the Smithies varsity, will probably hold down the other flank.

Charlie Hardwell, backfield flash, and one of Tech High's best and most consistent ground gainers, broke his nose, and also fractured a collarbone, last Saturday. The other casualty was Heavy Hammond, brainy field general, and deep-kicker de luxe, who received a broken foot during the course of the encounter with Central High. Coach Tolbert will probably use Armin Waugh in place of Hammond, using Armin Waugh to run the team, and one of the boys back will take the place of Hardwell.

W. O. Cheney, principal of Tech High, announced Monday that all grammar school children will be released from school ahead of time in order to witness the encounter that will mark Atlanta's first intersectional prep-grid battle. Much interest is being shown in the game, and a large crowd is expected to be on hand to watch the Smithies do battle with the invaders from the middle-west.

Reports from Dayton show that the Steele squad is in good shape for the battle, and the Smithies, in their present crippled condition, will be forced to fight to the utmost in order to win. The injuries Saturday put three of the team's best men out of the running, but the local eleven has plenty of fight left and Friday's battle will be well worth seeing.

Ruth Visits Lad

Essex Falls, N. J., October 11. (P.)—Babe Ruth today paid a visit to Johnny Sylvester, the 10-year-old youth whose sick bed appeal was credited by the Yankee slugger with being the inspiration for his outburst of home run hitting in the fourth game of the world's series.

"Gee, ain't he big?" muttered Johnny, who is suffering from sinus trouble, as Ruth came into the room.

The slugger told the boy to "cheer up" and handed him an autographed baseball, the last one used in the first series game, signed by the opposing pitchers, Penneck and Sherdel.

ALL OFFICERS IN PREP LOOP ARE REELECTED

Present officers of the Atlanta Prep School Athletic league were reelected at a meeting of the league held at the Atlanta Athletic club Monday night.

Gus Morrow, of G. M. A., was reelected president and C. T. Tolbert, of Tech High, was reelected secretary and treasurer.

The league decided that all local high schools would do everything possible in support of the Tech High-Steele game here next Friday. The Steelers came from Dayton, Ohio, and last year boasted the midwestern prep school football championship. A large crowd will be necessary at the game Friday to help clear expenses, the coaches said.

A committee was appointed to work out details for the coming basketball season. The basketball league this season will be composed of nine schools: Tech High, Boys' High, University School, Marietta, G. M. A., Commercial High, Fulton High, Marietta and Deatur. All of the schools were represented at the meeting except Marietta.

All Deatur, of the Atlanta Athletic club, was returned for another year as arbiter.

15 NEW MARKS ARE RECORDED DURING SERIES

Fifteen new records were established in the 1926 world's series and five were tied. Babe Ruth, with eight new marks, and two ties, led the assault on the record books. The records are:

New attendance record of 328,051. New receipt record of $1,207,544. Babe Ruth made new series playing record, participating in seven series, three with the Red Sox and four with the Yankees.

Ruth established new home run record for a game 3, and in the fourth game; also a new single series home run record of 4, and home run record of 8 for total number series played.

Ruth made a new total base record for a game by hitting for 12 bases in the fourth game; also a new scoring record of 4 tallies made in the fourth game. He tied the runs batted in record of 4 for a game which was also tied by Lester Bell of the Cardinals in the sixth game.

The record was established by Elmer Smith of the Indians on October 12, 1920. The Yankees made a new series total base record in the fourth game by piling on 14 hits for 28 bases. The Cardinals made 14 hits in the same game, the combined total tying the record of 28 hits made by the Giants and Yanks October, 1921.

In the fourth game, Southworth both made two assists from the outfield—this tied the record made by Harry Floomer of the Red Sox in 1912. Amos Strunk, of the Red Sox, in 1918; Harry Floomer, of the White Sox, in 1919; Bob Menzel, of the Yankees, in 1921; Sam Rice, of the Senators, in 1921. Five assists were made by the outfielders in the fourth game, a new record.

Ruth made a new base on balls for a series by getting 11 free passes, breaking his own record made in 1920. He tied the record for four bases on balls in the seventh game. The former record was held by Fred Clarke, of the Pirates, on October 14, 1909, and Dick Hoblitzel, of the Red Sox, on October 9, 1910.

Babe Ruth made a new record of reaching first in a series by getting on 19 times, 11 due to bases on balls, 8 by hits and 2 by force plays. This beats the record made by Max Carey in 1925, when the ex-Pirate reached first 18 times.

HAWK-EYE-ING SPORTS

BY DICK HAWKINS.

Don't Forget Prep Football.

With college football rapidly reaching the apex of one of the greatest seasons in the history of the south, the sporting fans of Atlanta are prone to forget the prep schools are also playing football.

And they also forget at times that the prep stars of today are the Southern conference stars of tomorrow. Those who see the Tech High gridders in action Friday against Steele High of Dayton may be watching the future stars of Georgia Tech and Georgia in the making.

Also let it be said that one will not want for football thrills when they watch a game between the prep school teams of Atlanta or any other well coached prep schools in the country. If you do not believe this column take a trip to Spiller field Friday afternoon and watch the diminutive Armin Waugh criss-cross through the line or Charley Bardwell (if the backfield star recovers from injuries) crash the line for gain after gain. Watch the line play of the heavy Steele High forward wall. You will not be disappointed and you may look back two or three years from now and say with pride that you saw this or that star of Tech or of Georgia in action at Spiller's field.

Do you remember several years ago when Bill Fincher wore the colors of Tech High and shortly after when he was one of the greatest linemen in the south as a member of Tech's forward wall? Do you remember when Al and John Staton were playing with the Purple Hurricane and afterward when they were making conference names for themselves in the ranks of the Yellow Jackets? Can you recall seeing Charlie and Smack Thompson wearing the Purple and Gold of Tech High and then featuring in the Red and Black moleskins of Georgia?

And so on—one could name scores of Atlanta prep school stars who have gone to the universities of this state and others to reap greater honors on the gridiron. One could eulogize the prep game from kickoff to final whistle but such a course would be a waste of paper. THE THING WE ARE DRIVING AT IS THAT THE PREP SCHOOL GAMES IN ATLANTA ARE NOT GETTING THE PROPER SUPPORT FROM THE PUBLIC. We are not urging the public to become charitable in behalf of the prep schools.

We are asking only that the football fans give the youngsters a fair trial. Any man who goes to see the prep schools of Atlanta play football and does not feel that he has seen a real hot-hot-hot grid game before the final whistle blows, just does not know football when he sees it. And that's that.

Sisler Slides Out.

Another great college baseball star who created a sensation in the majors upon his debut has been taken down a notch. George Sisler, formerly a pitcher for the University of Michigan and who went to the St. Louis Browns from college, has been summarily demoted as manager of the St. Louis American league club.

Sisler was largely a victim of circumstances. One of the game's greatest baseball players, Sisler would probably have continued to be among the leaders if he had not been in the line of government in the Brown camp. The partial failure of his eyesight was accredited to nerve-strain and he has never recovered fully from this affliction, probably directly traceable to the worry of the managership.

It may be a case of a great baseball player ruined by the assumption of authority and it may be that Sisler will come back to form if he is loosed from the worry of piloting. We would like to see George Sisler assume his rightful place in the majors. He may do it.

Millions Lost

New York, October 11.—(P.)—More money changed hands on the 1926 world's series than in any other event in the history of sport, according to reports of betting commissioners along Broadway and Wall street today.

Estimates of the commissioners placed the total of wagers at $20,000,000, of which $2,000,000 was bet here on the outcome of yesterday's game.

Never before, said sportsmen, was a series marked by a greater display of confidence on the part of backers of two rival teams, in spite of the uncertainty of the outcome. The Cardinals never lacked for support here, they pointed out, and this support was backed financially with an outpouring of money that compelled commissioners to add hundreds of clerks to their staffs.

BROWNS CHIEF DROPS SISLER AS MANAGER

St. Louis, October 11.—(P.)—George Sisler, for three years manager of the St. Louis Browns, will not be retained in that capacity next year, President Phil Ball announced today.

"I notified Sisler a few days ago," Ball said, "that his showing with the club was not sufficient to justify retaining him except in the capacity of first baseman. The complete failure of the team this year is all the explanation that is necessary to make I think."

"I do not know who will be manager next year. I have received five applications and we are considering these and others."

Ball said that, contrary to rumor, Bill Killefer, coach of the Cardinals, was not among those under consideration.

BABE TO SEEK $150,000 YEAR FROM YANKEES

(By Leased Wire to The Constitution and the Chicago Tribune.)

New York, October 11.—George Herman ("Babe") Ruth, who broke a string of world series records by hitting four homers against St. Louis Cardinals yesterday—three in one game—announced today that he proposed to ask for $150,000 a year in his new contract.

The home run slugger's last contract went the way of all legal paper when the late season ended. It had covered a three-year period, during which time the greatest game attraction baseball has ever known received $52,000 yearly, plus bonuses, from his employer, Colonel Jacob Ruppert, owner of the New York Yankees.

The Babe conceded that his new demands would not be considered modest, but indicated an expectation that the club management would come close to meeting his demands.

Babe reasons that in the course of the season the American league games in which he participates draw some $750,000 more than they would if he was not on exhibition. And he wants a share of that sum which he thinks he brings in at the gate.

Colonel Ruppert today refused to discuss the Babe's demands for his next contract. He was inclined to doubt the $150,000 figure represented what the Babe would expect for his next season's work.

"One thing is certain," said the club owner, "Ruth will not be given a long term contract. He will be signed for only one year, under no plans to date, and his contract form, offering him what we consider he will be worth to us, will be sent out with those of all other players of our club. As for his mention of $150,000, well, you can't blame him for trying."

From a source close to the Yankee management it was learned the figure which the club is to set forth in tendering the Bambino his new contract will be in the neighborhood of $75,000.

Logical Contender For Tunney's Title Will Be Decided

New York Commission May Stand Behind Victor at Ebbets Field For Match With Champion—Jack Entirely Out of Boxing Game For Time.

BY FRANK GETTY.

New York, October 11.—The one important and outstanding question agitating fight fans should be answered definitely in the prize ring at Ebbets' field Tuesday night.

Is Harry Wills, who dogged Jack Dempsey's footsteps for seven fruitless years, still the "Black Panther" of old and the logical contender for the heavyweight championship of the world?

Or have the years which have brought the big negro to the age of 36, taken their toll, and the final crowning touch to this year of fisticuffs which has proved so fatal to favorites?

In the same ring where Paul Baranbach lost his light heavyweight title to Jack Delaney, the big back stevedore who long has been hailed by his race as the "unworned heavy weight champion," will fight Jack Sharkey, of Boston, on the night of October 12.

Interest in the bout is greater than in any fistic contest aside from those which have marked the passing of the various championships this year.

Sportsmen the world over, who followed every detail of the defeat of Dempsey at the hands of Gene Tunney, will be watching for news of Harry Wills Tuesday night.

For Jack Dempsey is through with the prize ring and has retired.

has informed the United News that he and Estelle Taylor, his wife, intend to seek the seclusion accorded private citizens—something which has been denied Jack for seven years.

With Dempsey out of the picture as Tunney's next opponent, the winner of the Wills-Sharkey fight becomes the "logical contender."

Now, when Wills and his pugnacious and rotund little manager, Paddy Mullins, were shouting down the wind for a match with Jack Dempsey, they acquired a lot of support for their claims.

How strong this support was can now be judged by the fact that Tunney, who was first introduced to New York city—and saved the sequel—centennial by depositing the rich man in the lap of Philadelphia.

Vandy Prepares For Texas Tilt

Nashville, Tenn., October 11.—(P.) The Vanderbilt Commodore is receiving hard workouts this week in preparation for the big inter-sectional battle next Saturday with Texas, at Dallas.

The Vanderbilt eleven will leave Nashville Wednesday night, stopping over at Little Rock Thursday afternoon for a workout. They will arrive at Dallas Friday morning and engage in light practice there in the afternoon.

In the Bryson game last Saturday, Vanderbilt displayed "nothing to write about," say the sport editors except "individual performances of certain good men."

It is claimed that Vandy's team is slow in development on a bad break, in that two or three new men had to be worked into key positions because they were the only material available.

Coach Dan McGugin, back from a scouting trip to New Haven where he saw Yale conquer Georgia, declared "Georgia looks mighty good," with a well-balanced, powerful team and plenty of reserve strength. Vanderbilt plays Georgia at Nashville on the 23.

Infantrymen Win.

The West End Bulldogs, composed of former Atlanta prep stars, went down in defeat before the gridders of Fort McPherson at the fort Sunday, the score being 21 to 0. Coach Cunningham, of the 22nd Infantry team, used second-string men practically throughout the game.

Hodges Wins Shoot.

Dr. Hodges won a shooting match held at Camp Jessup Sunday afternoon with a total of 23 dead birds out of a possible 25. The scores of the next highest contestants were: Carter, 20 out of 25, and Shurbert, 18 out of 25.

BLU-STREAK GAS

Peachtree Road Station Popular

If a ballot were to be taken as to the most popular drive about Atlanta motorists would undoubtedly pick a heavy vote in favor of the spin out Peachtree road. This trip tempts an endless stream of motorists every day, and a veritable river of them on week-ends. To serve those who turn their tires into this beautiful section, as well as to make available the best of our initiative service to the residents of the Peachtree road section, one of the most beautiful and one of the most convenient stations in Atlanta has been erected at 1820 Peachtree road, just beyond Seaboard bridge.

Two wide entrance drives flanked by massive pumps which guarantee the purchaser of full gasoline measure, make possible the quick service of even the great number of motorists who flock to this station on a pleasant week-end afternoon.

Motorists who are near the Peachtree Road Station yet not quite near enough for convenience will find the same type of Reed service at North avenue and Spring street (Station Number 12), or any of the other twenty-two Reed stations so conveniently located throughout the city. All stations are open from 6:30 in the morning until 11:00 at night. All stations are equipped with visible pumps which were first introduced in Atlanta by the Reed Oil Company. All stations are operated by and under the direct inspection of the Reed Oil company and are subject to the rigorous service standards which insure quick, complete and entirely satisfactory service for you.—(adv.)

TUCKER WILL CASE HEARING CONTINUES

Hearing on a petition filed by Mrs. Henrietta Cooper, of Atlanta, in an effort to break the will of her brother, the late Henry H. Tucker, who died about one year ago leaving an estate estimated at $100,000, got under way Monday morning before Judge Edgar E. Pomeroy in Fulton superior court. The case is slated to continue three days.

The entire estate of Mr. Tucker was left to a cousin, Miss Martha Ann Stevens Shannon, a school teacher in Boston, Mass. Mrs. Cooper contends that her brother was mentally incompetent to make the will when the document was drawn.

Negress Admitted to Bar.

Washington, October 11.—(AP)—The first negro woman to be admitted to practice law in the District of Columbia is Ollie M. Cooper, 26, a clerk in the Howard University Law school. She was admitted today.

BEWARE THE COUGH OR COLD THAT HANGS ON

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action: it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs. Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist.—(adv.)

Tech Is Allied To Progress 'Cherokee' Name Of Georgia, Britain Declares For Merchandise Wins $50 Prize

Officially opening the 1926-27 radio schedule at Georgia Tech, Dr. M. L. Brittain, president of the institution, Monday night appeared before the microphone of WGST in a radio address in which he publicly thanked the donor of the Tech station and referred briefly to the program schedule for this fall.

In speaking of Tech, Dr. Brittain declared that the institution was closely allied to the material progress and development of the state, calling attention to the work that is now going on in its laboratories and work shops. Dr. Brittain emphasizes the fact that while students come to Tech from 35 different states in the union and eight foreign countries, the institution has not allowed the Georgia boy to be crowded out.

Dr. Brittain briefly sketched the radio course at the school, and touched also upon other courses and opportunities offered by Georgia Tech to young men who are ambitious for technological courses.

The Tech station formerly operated at WGM, operated by The Constitution, and was among the most powerful stations in the country. After establishing many long distance records for broadcasts and entertaining thousands of radio fans throughout North America each night for many months, Clark Howell, Sr., editor of The Constitution and a member of the board of trustees of Georgia Tech, donated the entire apparatus to the school. The gift was to enable Tech to have equipment for practical work in its course of radio engineering.

"It is a pleasure," Dr. Brittain said in his address, "to say a few words to the radio audience of the Georgia school of technology on this opening night for the school year 1926-27. At the very outset, it is proper that we should remember with appreciation the fact that this opportunity is given us through the kindness of Clark Howell and The Atlanta Constitution and WGST, which is the official name of this station, was formerly WGM in The Constitution building at Alabama street."

"This station, after honorable service there was given us in its entirety."

FUNERAL SERVICES ARE HELD MONDAY FOR JOHN BELL

Funeral services for John Bell, 46, of 68 Park Lane, vice president of Bell Spens & Co., who died Sunday afternoon at the residence, were held Monday afternoon from the Sacred Heart church. The Rev. Father M. A. Cotter officiated, and the body was taken to Savannah Monday night for interment.

Mr. Bell, a native of Savannah, had been a resident of Atlanta for nine years, during which time he had been a prominent figure in business circles, being a member of the firm of well-known investment brokers. He was president of the Bank club and a member of the Savannah Cadet club, which he joined prior to serving in the Spanish-American war.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Mary Gallagher Bell; two daughters, Mrs. Maurice McGarry and Miss Margaret Bell; two sons, John Bell, Jr., and Louis R. Bell, all of Atlanta; two brothers, Joseph W. Bell, of Savannah, and Theodore H. Bell, of Charlotte, N. C.; and two sisters, Mrs. John McLaughlin and Miss Annie Bell, both of Savannah.

and transferred to our campus. It is installed in our electric building. Besides its value in furnishing us with this voice to the outside world, it is distinctly helpful to us in our teaching of radio to the students. This is in charge of Professor C. C. Shumard, who is a graduate of the University of Missouri, and has been here with us for three years.

"The committee from the faculty to aid Mr. Shumard in the programs includes Professor T. G. Seidell and Professor George M. Sparks.

"The Monday or 'Tech night' programs will be furnished by Tech faculty and students. On Thursday evening of each week, the committee has arranged what it terms the 'Artist series' programs. In these, they have secured the best talent possible from Atlanta and elsewhere, largely musical.

During these Thursday evening entertainments there will be, in addition, a distinctive Tech feature, a talk by some one professor or student from each of the 11 departments of the institution. On Thursday of next week the Ceramic department, in charge of Dr. A. V. Henry, will give Tech flavor to what would otherwise be a musical evening in charge of Miss Grace Chalmers Thompson."

Announcers for the Georgia Tech station are selected by popular vote and the winner this year is William Scherffus.

Speaking of Tech and its students Dr. Brittain said:

"It is interesting to note that students come from 35 states in the Union and eight foreign countries. We have not allowed, however, Georgia and outside students to crowd out Georgia boys. In addition to this, the non-resident students are required to pay the full expense of their training while the Georgia students pay a little more than one-half of this, the balance being furnished by the state, city and county."

"Georgia Tech is closely allied, as shown, to the material progress and development of the state. Within the last few weeks, there has been an interesting development from the research work in our workshop, under the direction of Professor J. H. Henika. For years, the different furniture establishments have tried to prepare the wood from the Florida palmetto tree so that it would take a veneering polish that would make it suitable for mahogany, oak and maple. Therefore, it has been found impossible, but Professor Henika and his student workers have demonstrated that palmetto wood by proper treatment can be as handsome in finish as any of the hard woods of the world. This is simply another instance, however, of many ways in which the Georgia School of Technology has shown itself a practical and useful servant of the people."

A few drops of "Outgro" in the crevice of the ingrown nail reduces inflammation and pain and so toughens the tender, sensitive skin underneath the toe nail, that it can't penetrate the flesh, and the nail turns naturally outward almost overnight.

Decision Expected Today on Injunction In Barnes Vs. City

Judge G. H. Howard, of Fulton superior court, today is expected to hand down a decision on injunction proceedings brought by J. J. Barnes against the city of Atlanta to prevent the city from accepting deliveries of coal and gasoline because of alleged illegal contracts.

Hearing on proceedings got under way last Friday morning and for the past three days attorneys have been presenting the case, the main issue of which centers about certain phases of the law governing the purchase of city supplies.

A temporary injunction was granted by Judge Howard upon filing of the petition and the plaintiff is asking that the injunction be made permanent.

Certain contracts for coal for Grady hospital and gasoline for the fire and other departments of the city were not in compliance with the law, the petitioner is undertaking to bring out.

Further charges that the coal purchased and now being delivered is not up to specifications of the contract and that the price is excessive for the

How I Dress My Hair

By Edna Wallace Hopper
The thousands who see me daily on the stage wonder at my beautiful hair. It is wavy, glossy and abundant. Nearly everyone thinks that some wonderful hair dresser gives it daily care. Not so—In too busy for that. I never go to a hair dresser, have never had a Marcel wave. I simply apply twice weekly a hair dress which great experts made for me. It is not sticky, not greasy. Before they made it I never dreamed a liquid could do so much. Now all toilet counters supply it as Edna Wallace Hopper's Wave and Sheen. The price is 25c. Nothing else I know gives a girl or woman so much added loveliness at once. No one can resist it when she knows. My guarantee is enclosed with every bottle, so it costs you nothing if it doesn't please. Go try it at my expense.

MEN WHO MADE THE WORLD

THE RESULTS OF THE BATTLE OF CEUTLA WAS THE SUBMISSION OF THE ENTIRE NEARBY COUNTRY TO THE PRETENSIONS OF THE SPANIARDS. ONE CACIENE (CHIEF) AFTER ANOTHER OFFERED HIS ALLEGIANCE TO THE KING OF SPAIN. CORTES RECEIVED THE HUMBLING CHIEFTAINS KINDLY AND FORGAVE THEIR "REBELLION". AS THE SPANIARDS BLANDLY CALLED THEIR DEFENSE OF THEIR COUNTRY.

ONE SPANISH WRITER WHO REGARDED THE SPANISH CONQUEST AS UNNECESSARILY CRUEL AND BLOODTHIRSTY SARCASTICALLY PRONOUNCED THE STATE OF CEUTLA AS "THE FIRST PREACHING OF THE GOSPEL BY CORTES IN NEW SPAIN," AS THE COUNTRY WAS NOW CALLED.

Fernando Cortez

CORTES' MISSIONARY ZEAL NOW BECAME ACTIVE AND HE ORDERED FRIAR BARTOLOME TO INSTRUCT THE INDIANS IN THE CATHOLIC FAITH AND TO URGE THEM TO ABANDON THEIR WORSHIP OF VARIOUS IDOLS. IT IS DOUBTFUL THAT THE INDIANS UNDERSTOOD WHAT HE WAS ALL ABOUT, AS THE MEANS OF INTERPRETING WERE VERY POOR. BUT AT ALL EVENTS THEY PROMISED TO OBSERVE THE TEACHINGS AND TO VENERATE THE CROSS.

CORTES, HAVING FINISHED HIS WORK, WAS ANXIOUS TO MOVE ON AND SEE MORE OF THIS STRANGE AND WONDERFUL COUNTRY. THE EXPEDITION NOW EMBARKED AND SAILED WESTWARD ALONG THE COAST TO SAN JUAN DE ULUA, JUST SOUTH OF MODERN VERA CRUZ, ARRIVING APRIL 28, 1519. MANY INDIANS WERE SEEN CROWDING THE SHORES. PRESENTLY TWO LARGE CANOES LEFT THE SHORE HEADED FOR THE SHIP.

Woman's Club Indorses State Safety Council at Meeting

The introduction and adoption of a motion indorsing the Georgia Safety council, recently organized at the request of Governor Walker, for the conservation and protection of human lives, was the only legislative point acted upon at the open meeting held at the Atlanta Woman's club Monday afternoon. Mrs. Charles Morris, chairman of community service, prepared the resolution and made the motion for adoption.

President Wins Prize.
An interesting announcement was made by Mrs. Wilmer L. Moore, membership chairman, that the club president, Mrs. Price-Smith, is the winner of the membership prize offered in the recent membership drive, in which she brought in nine new life members. Mrs. Moore reported 132 new members added to the roster since the campaign was begun under Mrs. Price-Smith's regime.

Theme of Meeting.
The program was planned relative to the flower show staged under the auspices of the fifth district of the Georgia federation, which was held in the banquet hall of the club, the theme being "Flowers." Mrs. W. B. Price-Smith, the president, presided, and extended a cordial greeting to the representatives of the fifth district federated garden clubs, guests of the club. Community singing was led by Miss Helen Knox Spain. Mrs. Delos Hill, second vice president of the club, was in charge of the musical program and rendered an appropriate piano solo.

Dr. Baker Speaks.
Dr. Woolford Baker, instructor of botany at Emory university, spoke of flowers as companions and the debt humanity owed them. His remarks were convincing and instructive. The president, Mrs. Smith, brought out the point that one of the first things God created for the pleasure of mankind was a garden, and that flowers are most refreshing to the spirits of man. Mrs. George E. Blake, co-chairman of the literature department, gave a splendid report as to the plans for the year's program of work of that department.

Easy To Gain Weight With Yeast and Iron

New Combination of Yeast With Vegetable Iron Builds Up Weight in Three Weeks

Thin, run-down and underweight men, women and children can improve their health, increase their energy and put on from five to twenty pounds of good solid flesh in three weeks.

A new combination of yeast vitamins with vegetable iron, renews the action of sluggish blood cells, drives out dangerous body poisons, increases energy and endurance and supplies the system with the vitamins that build up weight.

For years yeast has been known as a rich vitamin food, but not until we perfected "ironized yeast"—which comes in concentrated tablet form, was it possible to take yeast and iron in the right proportions to build up weight.

Vegetable "Iron" when combined with yeast is quite easy to digest, therefore better for the system. And "Yeast" when ironized becomes just twice as beneficial as ordinary fresh or cake yeast.

Ironized Yeast tablets are composed of concentrated food elements, therefore they are pleasant to take and free from drug-like effects. It makes no difference how old you are—or how young you are—how long you have been underweight—or how much underweight you are, "ironized yeast" tablets are positively guaranteed to pick you right up, and add from five to twenty pounds of good firm flesh in three weeks' time. If they fail get your money back.

Sold by druggists at $1.00 for a large 60 tablet package, or sent direct from laboratory on receipt of price. Ironized Yeast Co., Dept. 201, Atlanta, Ga.

The Central of Georgia Railway's Program of Service

Certain fundamental principles which have characterized the general policy of the Central of Georgia in the past will be followed in future.

This railroad realizes that it is measured by the quality of service it supplies. Our endeavor is to provide transportation that shall always be safe, adequate, dependable and courteous.

We are mindful of a further obligation than that of service. The Central of Georgia endeavors to promote by every means in its power the progress and development of commerce, agriculture and industry in its territory. In so doing we do not lose sight of the necessity of improving our own plant, equipment and facilities to keep step with the increasing demands of a rapidly growing section.

In addition to service and development there is another factor in our program—frankness in dealing with the public. We have nothing to conceal from our patrons. We understand that we are conducting a public service and that the people are entitled to information as to the manner in which we perform that service. We invite criticism and suggestions with confidence in the fair-mindedness of an informed public.

The Central of Georgia deeply appreciates the public's approval of these policies. It renews its pledge of service, development and frankness. It will strive to deserve a continuation, and even an increased measure, of the people's patronage and goodwill by the manner in which the management and men will endeavor to measure up to these obligations.

Constructive criticism and suggestions are invited.

J. J. PELLEY,
President Central of Georgia Railway Company.

Savannah, Ga., October 12, 1926.

Fashions Sketched by Kay

In Muse's yesterday I stopped to examine carefully this stunning frock, which I have sketched for you today. It is fashioned of velour Adonis in one of the new wallflower shades, and features the Vionnet sleeve, the large bow, and horizontal stripes. These three are most important in the fall mode, and when they are combined with a bodice which blouses above a snug hip, the result is most charming. Metallic cloth has been used for the girdle, deep cuffs and collar and a most fascinating detail is the slip of pleated romo which fills the opening at the side.

Crosses of Service Awarded by U. D. C. In College Park

An interesting service was held by Robert E. Lee chapter, U. D. C., on Tuesday, October 5, in the home of Mrs. V. C. Mason, Virginia avenue, at 3:30 o'clock. Three "Crosses of Service" were awarded to three beloved world war heroes, whose mothers received the crosses for their sons. When the president, Mrs. R. L. Proctor, called the names, "Gartrell Webb," "Robert O'Kelley," "Charles Vance," every heart beat with love and pride, and every daughter of the Confederacy present knew that Admiral Semmes' birthday (September 27) was being honored according to the U. D. C. ritual. Mrs. Proctor spoke very tenderly of the brave boys who had "loved ones" emblemized upon these crosses. She drew the picture of Admiral Semmes' brave encounter in the sixties off the coast of France with his wonderful ship, "The Alabama," fighting for the Confederacy.

Long live our world war heroes who wear the crosses of service, emblems of honor to their grand sires of the sixties as well.

Miss Marion O'Kelley and Misses Kitty and Laura Vance, sisters of two of the boys, were present.

Miss Manora Conley sang, accompanied by Miss Rebecca Butt, both being granddaughters of Confederate veterans.

After a short business session, a delightful social hour was presided over by the hostess, Mrs. Mason and Mrs. Lily Love, social chairman.

Delegates elected to the Statesboro convention are as follows: Mrs. J. T. Head and Mrs. P. J. Hendon, alternates, Mrs. Hattie Pottle Green and Miss Emma Brown.

The next meeting of the chapter will be November 2.

Black Butterflies

By ELIZABETH JORDAN

SYNOPSIS.
Dorinda Maxwell, the wealthiest woman in Grandon, brings upon herself the censure of the town by her association with the Black Butterflies, a club made up of social outcasts. Her attorney, Ursus Hatch, reconciles with her and advises her to take Dorinda to the country. Hatch sends David Goddard, his clerk, out to Dorinda's home with some papers that require her signature and the heiress is impressed by the young student. Dorinda is worried by the gossip about herself and calls on Norma Davis, an old friend, with the hope of keeping their friendship alive. Norma tells Dorinda that her father, Judge Davis, objects to their friendship. She asks Dorinda why she doesn't marry and Dorinda gives her the same answer she gave to her attorney. She asks him to marry her, the arrangement to be strictly a matter of business. He refuses at first but later he tells her he'll do it. He starts courting her according to a plan they had agreed upon.

INSTALLMENT XX. NORMA'S DEFECTION.

Dorinda sat up, and her green-gray eyes narrowed as they moved from face to face. "What is this? Have we reached the point where I can't make a new acquaintance without apologizing and explaining and defending myself and him?"

Jim shook his head at her. "It won't do, Dorinda," he said, gently. "You can't put us off that way. You know very well you can have all the acquaintances you want. But this episode looks serious. You appear to be falling in love with Goddard, and to have fallen about ten thousand feet already. Your parachute is giving out and you're due for a frightful smash."

"All right. When I get it you can talk. Till then, please don't." "Dorinda!" For once the faun was serious. "You don't know anything about Goddard except that he's easy to look at. He's a self-centered, intolerant, narrow-minded, holier-than-thou prig, eaten up by ambition, and ready to do anything or anybody to get where he wants to be. If he marries you it will be for your money, for you he hasn't an idea in common and in the smug soul of him he disapproves of everything about you. I'd give him less than a year to break your heart."

"If we thought we could get at him in any way—" Jim took up the arraignment where Chad had dropped it—"that is, if we could make him human by injecting him with some healthy and redeeming vices, there wouldn't be so much risk for you. But I don't flatter myself we can. He's too well protected by his castiron armor of self-righteousness."

Dorinda addressed no one in particular.

"Is that all?" Kitty asked. "If it isn't, I'll discourse a while. Jim and Chad didn't leave out much, but I can mention a few things they forgot."

"Don't," Dorinda decided that she had had enough of this. "Listen, children," she went on, "I've let you talk, though when you've thought it over you'll agree with me that you've been a little premature. Now I'll talk—for the first, last and only time on this subject, so don't miss what I say. It's simply this: I never appointed you three my guardians or my advisers or my chaperons, or anything of that sort. And I don't want any opinions from you, at any time, about myself or my conduct or my other friends."

She heard Chad's awed exclamation.

"My God, we were right! She's in love with the fellow!"

"I suppose you meant well," she went on. "Folks usually do when they go blundering into the affairs of others. I thought you three were above that sort of thing, and I'm simply amazed that you're not. But please don't blunder again. Now, Kitty, if you will sit down and play for a long time, it may help to clear the atmosphere."

As Kitty drifted back to the piano, replacing a hairpin that had repudiated its obligations, Chad picked up the decanter of whisky. "We'll have to kill him, after all," he announced to the opening movements of the "Waltz" sonata. "But not necessarily tonight. Come on, Jim, make yourself comfy."

Jim solemnly raised his glass.

"To the memory of a loved and lost Dorinda," he sighed.

Thereafter the two young men devoted themselves to the whisky in the manner of those who had seen their duty, had done it, and were now prepared to call it a day.

David Goddard's courtship of Dorinda Maxwell, by this time the pet topic of Grandon, ran gratifyingly true to form. He motored with her, walked with her, took her out to luncheon, to dinner and to tea, and dined and lunched with her several times a week in her own home. The triumvirate adapted themselves to the new routine with a speed that did credit to their good sense. The townspeople were rather slower to do so, and motherly women showed a disposition to turn the young man from the error of his ways by sadly shaking their heads over him when they met in neutral territory.

But after a few weeks the most persistent students of the affair were forced to admit that Goddard's character was not deteriorating and that his influence over Miss Maxwell seemed beneficial. She had furnished them with no fresh scandals since the courtship began. No further public baths were taken in the fountain on the Maxwell lawn, though one explanation of this lay in the fact that the pool was now frozen over. There had been no more too lively parties, and apparently no more all-night dancing at Kelly's or other roadhouses. Though the Butterflies still visited Dorinda at all hours, there was little in their conduct to criticize, aside from an occasional unevenness of gait as they came and went. Gradually Grandon awoke to the discovery that there was a definite improvement here, and that possibly the town's black sheep might yet retrieve herself by a marriage to an eminently worthy young man who was guaranteed by those who knew him intimately to be the sort that stands no nonsense.

Goddard could not fail to observe that his associates in the "ces of Hatch, Fuller & Kimball regarded him with a deepening interest through with apprehension. The manner of Hatch, indeed, was alarmingly paternal ever since the day of the lawyer's second talk with Dorinda, when she had persuaded Hatch to withhold judgment for another month. David also had reason to feel that the office boy and the stenographers were impressed by his new clothes. Being an exacting young man, he sought even further evidences of progress, and just before Christmas he approached Miss Maxwell on a rather delicate subject.

"I thought you were going to cultivate some new people," he submitted, "and try to widen your circle."

"So I am, but not too soon," she serenely told him. Her poise these days was in sharp contrast to his own nervousness. "We mustn't rush things. They're going beautifully—just the way we want them to go. We'll let people think we're too absorbed in each other to remember that they're alive. If Norma were here," she added, "it would be different. She could help me so much. As it is, we must wait."

Her tone sobered on the last words. Inwardly, she was annoyed and deeply hurt by the defection of Norma Davis. She had given Norma a fortnight—a month at the most—to approve of the new conditions and to call on her again; and instead of doing either of these things, Norma had departed for Florida without even a telephone message of farewell. Dorinda realized that no social campaign could be started till Norma came home. Immediately after that she would announce her engagement, and then it would be the clear duty of her friend to sanction her reform by giving her a luncheon or a dinner, and inviting the town's most exacting buds and matrons. How abysmally that affair would bore one! Dorinda shuddered at the prospect of it.

Goddard was following his own line of thought. "Isn't it about time I proposed to you?" he mildly inquired. Dorinda looked at him admiringly.

"You're indefatigable," she admitted. "You count that day lost whose low descending sun sees no worthy action done, don't you? But why in heaven's name do you want to propose to me?"

"So we can announce our engagement."

"You're awfully systematic, too," she went on. "I shouldn't have felt that in these conditions a proposal was necessary. However, I suppose you're right, as usual. It will be better if I can say to awkward groups, a few years hence, 'It was in this spot, under the mistletoe, that David asked me—' Besides, I'll need some circumstantial details for the Butterflies. Poor Butterflies!" she added simply, "they'll take it hard. They've almost decided that it's just a flash in the pan. They're born optimists, you know."

New York, October 11.—(AP)—The cotton market showed a generally steady tone today owing to a smaller volume of selling orders from the south and covering combined with a moderate demand attributed to domestic and foreign trade interests. Domestic contracts sold up to 13.36, a net advance of 45 points and a recovery of 90 points from the low level of last Friday, and closed at 13.36. The general market closed steady at a net advance of 37 to 39 points.

The opening was firm at an advance of 27 to 35 points in response to relatively steady Liverpool cables, reports of over-Sunday rains in the southeastern and a renewal of the covering movement in evidence here on Saturday. Comparatively few orders to night selling orders appeared to be reaching the market from the south, while private cables said there had been only light hedging in Liverpool before the local opening, and hedging off of such offerings no doubt increased the disposition to cover recent sales.

Announcement that President Coolidge had appointed a commission to assist in any possible way in the cotton situation, had a sentimental effect of considerable importance, and the market was active early, active movements selling 45 to 40 points net higher, at 13.38 for January and 13.60 for March, demand seemed to taper off as if the more urgent demand from shorts had been satisfied. No selling pressure of consequence developed on reactions of some 12 or 15 points from the best, however, and the market held very steady in late trading.

The falling off in southern hedging was quite generally commented upon by local brokers as one of the outstanding features of the day, although there was some difference of opinion as to whether this reflected firmer holding in the south or a decreased spot demand.

Reports of very heavy export engagements including rumors that 200,000 bales were to be shipped out of Houston during October, were accompanied by rumors that European mills also were good buyers in the local market.

Port receipts today, 122,304. U. S. port stocks, 1,693,963. Exports today, 60,941, making 1,570,641 so far this season.

MARKET ACTIVE
PRICES RULE HIGHER.

New Orleans, October 11.—(AP)—The cotton market developed a fair degree of activity today and the trend of prices was higher from the start. The main cause of the advancing tendency was the heavy rains in the central and northwestern portions of the belt over Sunday which not only induced covering but also led to good buying by outsiders for speculative and investment purposes. Following an opening gain of 20 to 34 points which was largely due to better Liverpool cables, the market continued to advance during the morning until near the noon hour prices showed signs of over the previous close of 49 to 51 points. Covering by shorts in advance of the Columbus day holiday tomorrow helped the demand considerably. During the early afternoon the market quieted down some and reacted about 10 to 13 points on realizing by early buyers, but the undertone remained healthy. In the last half hour of trading prices rallied again on final covering by shorts before the holiday and prices recovered to with in 2 to 3 points of the highs and some of the inactive months made new highs. The close showed net gains for the day of 45 to 51 points.

As Liverpool came in 5 to 21 points better than due, and early weather reports indicated much rain in the north, the day here opened 20 to 35 points up and a further gain after the start carried December up to 13.10, January to 13.20 and March to 13.28, or 32 to 36 points above the close of Saturday.

After some slight reaction on realizing, prices advanced again near noon on covering in advance of tomorrow's holiday. December finally trading up to 13.27, January to 13.34 and March to 13.53 or 49 to 51 points above the previous close. This advance attracted buyers, and prices eased off 10 to 13 points from the previous close. This advance attracted buyers, and prices eased off 10 to 13 points from the previous close.

The market rallied again in the late trading and closed within a few points of the day's highs.

Exports for the day totaled 60,941 bales.

MILLER SUBSIDIARY FILES SCHEDULES

New York, October 11.—(AP)—Bankruptcy schedules filed today by the Investment Banking Corporation, which is a subsidiary of G. L. Miller & Co. Inc. of New York, realty mortgage underwriters, for which Lawrence Benson was recently appointed equity receiver. Lists liabilities of $1,690,265.72 and assets of $1,690,306.37.

The principal creditor, G. L. Miller and company, to which the Investment Banking Corporation owes, according to the petition, $1,612,785.75. To collectors of taxes in Atlanta, Ga., Memphis, Tenn., and in Birmingham and Mobile, Ala., are due sums aggregating $27,000. Included among the assets are equities in the Almadura apartment building, Memphis; Claridge Manor apartments in Birmingham; Peachtree Terrace South apartments, Atlanta; St. Charles apartments, Mobile, and other apartment properties in the south.

An involuntary petition in bankruptcy was filed also against the Investment Banking Corporation of Georgia, another subsidiary of G. L. Miller & Co. Inc. in September. Of the $85,000,000 in real estate mortgage bonds underwritten and sold to the public by G. L. Miller and company since 1920, when the company was first organized, $16,880,000 worth of bonds are in default on interest and amortization totaling $780,844. It was testified last September by W. C. Court, assistant treasurer, before Referee Maurice Black, at No. 51 Chambers street.

Under the questioning of Deputy Attorney General Keyes Winter, the assistant treasurer testified the investments in the payments on these default bonds had been paid out of the general funds. Mr. Court testified that there was still due to persons or corporations on underwritings for building construction the sum of $7,804,772. To offset that sum he said there had been received from borrowers in amortization payments and interest the sum of $1,850,000, and a total of unpaid bonds to the amount of $5,953,000.

MOVE IS PRELIMINARY TO TRUSTEE ELECTION.

The filing of schedules by the Investment Banking Corporation, a subsidiary of the G. L. Miller & Co. Inc. in New York, Monday, is in accordance with the regular procedure in such cases of bankruptcy, according to M. E. Goldstein, of the local law firm of Little, Power, Smith and Goldstein, attorneys for the receivers, who stated that the schedules are filed as one of the preliminary steps to the election of a trustee. Assets of the Investment Banking Corporation consist largely of advances made by the Miller company on property covered by Miller bonds. Mr. Goldstein said. Schedules must be filed in order that the referee in bankruptcy may notify creditors prior to the appointment of the trustee, Mr. Goldstein said.

DROP IN PRICES OF COTTON MAKES FARMER KILL SELF

Fayetteville, N. C., October 11.—(AP)—Depression due to the crash of cotton prices was given today by members of his family as the motive for the suicide of Charles McInnis, 65, of this county farmer, at his home near here.

McInnis was said to have been very visibly affected by the slump in prices and had been extremely pessimistic. This morning he told his wife he was going to do some work. Later one of his children found his body in a dump of hives, with his throat slashed in four places.

To guarantee the exposition management and the public that no trickery will be employed and that the act constitutes a serious demonstration of the possibilities in the use of radio for controlling distant mechanical objects, a Nash automobile will be taken from the regular showrooms of the Martin-Nash company on the morning of Monday, October 18, before the show opens that afternoon. Mr. Walker said. Franchill will place on its special radio control equipment and it will at all times be subject to examination. He has been running to the control switch.

"The miniature dreadnaught which Franchill will use on the auditorium stage in a similar demonstration was built specially to be controlled by radio, and in fact, its movements could be controlled in no other way," Mr. Walker said. "That is the reason we secured a regular stock model automobile to use in conjunction with the radio. The battleship feature will prove amazing and entertaining, but the vessel was created for that purpose. The automobile was built for the open market."

Prompt Acceptances Urged Of Invitations To Banquet To Honor Art Museum Donor

Brilliant Affair in Honor of Mrs. J. M. High Set
For Saturday Night at Biltmore.

Prompt acceptance of invitations to the banquet at the Biltmore hotel Saturday night in honor of Mrs. J. M. High, donor of Atlanta's new cultural center, the High Museum of Art, is urged by the arrangements committee of the Atlanta Art association, which has charge of the occasion.

It is pointed out by the committee that the seating capacity of the Biltmore ballroom, where the banquet is to be held, is limited and assignment of places is being made strictly in accordance with the order in which acceptances are received. There are many choice tables left, but those who expect to attend and honor Mrs. High for her generosity in giving Atlanta a public art museum, are urged to reply to the invitation promptly in order that they may not be disappointed when they arrive at the Biltmore for the banquet Saturday, officials stated Monday.

Two of the most gifted speakers in the south will speak at the new museum, which is being built on the site of the old Georgia state capitol. Robert F. Wagner, director of the National Academy of Design, and Arthur Hays Sulzberger, president of the New York Times, will be the featured speakers.

A large group of the famous American artists and executives of leading firms in the country will be present at the banquet, the occasion centering in the interest of art circles throughout the nation on this day.

Following the banquet, the new museum will be formally opened on Sunday afternoon through a private showing, by invitation to members of the art association, visitors to the museum will be admitted to the exhibit open to the general public.

The Grant Collection will remain here for two years, after which the permanent collection which has been slowly accumulated by the art association during a number of years will remain as the nucleus for the greater collection which will eventually become the property of Atlanta forever.

"Citizens' Ticket"
To Be Selected Tonight
By Hapeville Citizens

Hapeville, Ga., October 11.—(Special.)—Plans for a "citizens' ticket" to run in the city election to be held in December will be chosen Tuesday night at a mass meeting to be held at the Hapeville auditorium at 8 o'clock.

Several previous meetings have been held at which names have been presented for approval as possible candidates for council. Three places are to be filled and it is the purpose of the meeting to select three men for the "citizens' ticket" which made its first appearance in Hapeville politics last year when a mayor and two council members were elected for two years.

H. L. McElhannon, incumbent, has declined renomination this year, after a period of several years of service in the council. E. E. Schenck, elected last year to succeed Mayor Stewart, resigned, will be a candidate to succeed himself, and S. E. Treadwell, elected October 5 in special election to succeed L. J. Howard, resigned, also will be a candidate for reelection.

This noted thoroughfare has a very promising future. It grows constantly in importance as a traffic artery, most owners of West Peachtree Street frontage are content to hold it, knowing that it will increase in value. There are not many parcels offered for sale from Baker Street, even as far out as the Biltmore Hotel, at figures under $1,000 a front foot. We have one parcel in the vicinity of Baltimore Block 100 feet frontage, which we can sell at $700 a foot. This parcel is so manifestly under the general market that it should be bought by some investor for profit making.
